AN OPEN LETTER TO THE SEMINARY COMMUNITY

When are we going to sensitize ourselves to the cries of our hungry brothers and sisters throughout the world? Are we suffering from "compassion fatigue?"

After reading my free copy of the December issue of "World Encounter"; I can no longer restrain myself. I have already passively followed the rapid decline of the world food situation that began to appear in American newspapers about a year ago, even though the situation actually reached the critical stage two years ago.

Why have we, the affluent citizens of the United States, kept quiet (eg. our role in the World Food Council), for so long? Do we fool ourselves into believing that this is just sensationalist news reporting? Do we no longer believe the U.N. Declaration of Human Rights that declared that every human being "the right to food?" I suspect that from the beginning it was only a lofty ideal which really can't be taken seriously. It's no secret that we are the most affluent society that ever existed, yet we want even more for ourselves. It's no use to quote statistics of how grossly overfed we are and how undernourished the rest of the world is, because many of us still believe that "there will always be the poor."

Well, now that the LCA has taken action, and declared that it is our Christian duty to act with money and personal sacrifice, it is up to us not to relegate this demand on our lives to second rate status. Shouldn't our response go beyond our concern for the sake of world peace and stability?

Let's at least talk about these issues and maybe some kind of long range action can come out of our life together in Christ. Arbitrarily, I would like to suggest that all interested students, faculty and friends meet in Main Dorm lounge on Thursday, November 14 at 7 PM to collectively raise our consciousness and brainstorm for an active response.

Hopefully yours,
Henry Pawluk

HOLY COMMUNION

Wednesday night November 13 at 7:30 Holy Communion will be celebrated in the rotunda of the library. Dr. Lyman Lundeen will preach. The entire seminary community is invited to come and break bread together.

A TALE OF A MACHINE THAT COULD BE

Once upon a time there was a library with a marvelous machine. This machine had the unheard of capability of making copies of the printed word. People stood in awe of this machine. When a page was placed on top and a coin fed into the machine's mouth, it would actually duplicate the page line for line. Everyone who used the library fed the machine. Students, faculty, staff, even visitors paid to watch this marvel perform. As this wonder got to be known around the community, it was used so often the machine grew fat, but still continued to function, copying everything in sight. The story would continue here but for an unfortunate occurrence - I woke up ! I realized this was just a foolish dream. Realities like this just do not exist ! If they only did...

WIVE'S CLUB - A REMINDER!

Our next meeting will be on November 19, at 7:30 PM at Ruth Aden's. Our meeting will be lead by Laura Jervis who will discuss with us "death and the dying patient." Please plan to be with us that evening. Also keep in mind any suggestions you may have for future meetings or anything else. We hope to see you on Tuesday the 19th.

BIG BOOK MOVE:

This Friday afternoon (November 15) immediately following lunch, the library would appreciate as much help as possible. The library construction has provided a great deal of additional space and the time has come to take advantage of it !

Many of the books in the general stack area must be cleaned and put in new areas. There is no remuneration for this work, but there will be free beer and snacks! It's a big job so "the more the merrier." It has been a long time (over a year!) since our library has been torn apart. With a little help from the community WE will all be able to enjoy OUR new facility, very soon..."with a little help from our friends..." SEE YOU THERE, Friday 1:15-4:00?

TO THE EDITOR

I was greatly disturbed by a full page devoted to satire in the last issue. I'm sorry that Greg Johnson is not sympathetic to the cause of WRM. I happen to know that the group is meeting a real need for women of widely differing ages on this campus.

The role of women in society is changing and what is needed from male pastors is a listening ear, not jokes, smart remarks, and put-downs. I do hope Greg is open to changing his attitude and approach before he gets into a parish.

WHY NOT ? !

DATES ON THE CHURCH CALENDAR

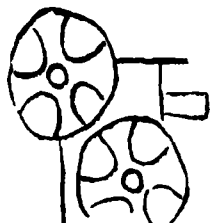

An Octoberfest in November? Why not! Friday night had to be the most exuberant success, dance-wise, that our Seminary has seen in the two years I've been an active stomper here. What's more important, we're not getting older, we're getting better. (I think I heard that somewhere.)

The lighting (or lack of it) is more subtle; the refreshments are more filling; the music.... Let me tell you about the music- you, who for some demanding reason, were unable to join us (faculty included). Our live-in sound man, Hubie Burkat, taped an entire evening of musical selections in the manner of your "typical radio disk jockey", including station breaks, time checks, record comments, and a parody on the controversial technique of the Sunday night, hard sell, radio evangelist. The only item missing was the weather report, at which he would probably have had to guess. On the other hand, if he had said 50% chance of anything, he probably would have been right. It's really questionable who had the better time, Hubie, taping, or the tribe dancing.

I'm not certain of our next social event, but if this evening was any indication, the social committee will be appreciated and supported. In fact, maybe next time you might even bring a friend. Okay?

December 1, 6, 7, 8, 13, 14. (8PM)

November 11 commemorates Martin of Tours. He was born (c. 316) of a pagan family in the Roman province in what is now Hungary. He grew up in Lombardy and, at the age of 10, decided to become a catechumen. He served as a soldier in the Roman army but found it increasingly difficult to reconcile Christianity with the military life. Leaving the army (not without accusations of cowardice), he became a hermit. In 360 he went to Hilary, Bishop of Poitiers, and lived in a sort of monastic community. He was consecrated Bishop of Tours in 371, and chose to live not in the episcopal palace but in a cave, with his office in a nearby hut. He traveled widely, evangelizing rural Gaul and founding monasteries. He died November 8, 397, at a distant outpost of his diocese and was buried November 11. Martin Luther was baptized on St. Martin's day and was given the name of this saint. Martin was one of the first holy men who was not a martyr to be publicly honored as a saint, and his influence was felt from Ireland to Africa and Asia.

November 17 commemorates Elizabeth, daughter of King Andrew II of Hungary. She was born in the summer of 1207. At the age of 14 she was married to Louis IV, the Landgrave of Thuringia, to seal a political alliance. The marriage was a happy one and the parents lived with their three children in the Wartburg Castle near Eisenach. Elizabeth was generous to the poor and, with her husband, she founded two hospitals and sought work for the unemployed. Louis died of the plague September 11, 1227, while going to join a crusade. Elizabeth left the Wartburg and, having provided for her children, formally renounced the world on Good Friday 1228, joining the third order of St. Francis. She submitted wholly to the orders of a confessor, whose care of her was ruthless, and she lived her last years in unnatural austerity. She died November 17, 1231, at the age of 24, and is buried at Marburg. She has been one of the most beloved saints of the German people, and countless hospitals have been named for her.

WORDS FROM THE PAST.... "AR'NT I A WOMAN"

Nobody ever help me into carriages, or ober mud puddles, or gives me any best places.... and ar'nt I a woman? Look at me! Look at my arm!...I have plowed, and planted, and gathered into barns, and no mar. could head me-and ar'nt I a woman? I could work as much as a man(when I could get it) and bear de lash as well- and ar'nt I a woman? I have born thirteen chilern and I seen 'em mos' all sold off into slavery, and when I cried out with a mother's grief, none but Jesus heard-and ar'nt I a woman? Den dat little man in black dar, he say women can't have as much rights as man, cause Christ want a woman. whar did your Christ come from? From God and a woman. Man had nothing to do with him.

- Sojourner Truth

I'm very proud of our WRM group on campus because it is facing reality. It is and shall deal with issues that confront both male and female alike. Whether the issues are political, economical or theological, they are issues we as Christians must maturely resolve.

When I read the above words from the past, I felt amazed that many things had changed. The lash isn't used on slaves in this country, at least as far as we know of, and flagrant slavery is abolished years ago. But, sexist, economic and psychological liberation has yet to come.

Sojourner Truth was a woman, a mother, a Christian and a slave. She had many roles in this life. As the quote and history indicates she was able to do all quite well, even though she had no choice in those roles. How many of our mothers, wives, girlfriends, sisters and friends have choices in those roles? We have a long way to go before everyone has equality.

I feel we have freedom in Christ but many ardent Christians cannot extend that freedom for man, or for his help-mate woman. It's great that women in our Church can be ordained. It's terrific until they are! Are there jobs? Are there men who'll accept them and not feel threatened by them? Is there the same economic advantages for both men and women in the Church? All I know is that I'm glad I ar'nt a woman for there are dat little men in black, who say women can't have as much rights as man, cause Christ want a woman.

Who has the strength today to ask and answer those men: "Whar did your Christ come from? From God and a woman. Not bad - for a woman. She must be worth something?"

Palette suggests for a beautiful Toykey? this year try the following steps:

TOMMY TURKEY DELIGHT

- 4 cups sherry or red wine
- 1 10-12 lb. toykey; $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. butter; salt, pepper, poultry seasoning.
1. Place toykey in roasting pan.
2. Pour on a cup of sherry/wine inside toykey.
3. Spread butter over toykey skin.
4. Generously season inside and outside of turkey.
5. Pour 1 cup of sherry/wine in bottom of roast pan.
6. Drink other two cups of sherry/wine while preparing Toykey (A beer or some other beverage may be substituted here)
7. Prepare to stuff toykey.
8. After stuffing cover toykey with aluminum foil.
9. Roast 3 hrs. at 375 degrees.
10. Take out and carve in beautiful hunks of dinner.

Chestnut and Sausage Stuffing

Cut a 1-pound loaf of day-old white bread, crusts removed, into small cubes and toast the cubes in a preheated very slow oven (275°F.) until they are lightly browned. Put the cubes in a large bowl, add 1 tablespoon salt and 1 teaspoon each of thyme, pepper, and oregano, and toss the mixture well. In a heavy skillet saute $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups minced onions and the reserved liver from the turkey, chopped, in 2 sticks or 1 cup butter for 10 minutes. Add 1 pound country-style sausage meat, crumbled, and simmer the mixture, stirring, for five minutes. Stir in $\frac{1}{2}$ pound cooked ham, ground, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup minced celery, and $1/3$ cup minced parsley and remove the pan from the heat. Add the mixture to the bread cubes with 3 eggs, lightly beaten, and $\frac{1}{2}$ cup light cream and combine the mixture well. Fold in $1\frac{1}{2}$ pounds chestnuts, braised and drained, and let the stuffing cool completely and then stuff the old bird. Don't forget to baste the bird every 20 minutes.

CRANBERRY WINE JELLY

Make cranberry sauce and chill it overnight or cheat like we did and buy it from the store.

In a small bowl sprinkle $2\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons gelatin over $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water to soften for 10 minutes. In a saucepan combine 3 cups cranberry juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup medium dry Madeira, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup orange juice, and 1 tablespoon sugar and cook the mixture over moderate heat until it is hot. Add the softened gelatin and stir the mixture until the gelatin is dissolved. Put the saucepan in a pan of ice water and let the mixture cool, stirring occasionally, but do not let it set.

Rinse twelve $\frac{1}{2}$ -cup timbale molds or any molds in cold water and dry them. Pour 2 tablespoons of the jelly mixture into each of the molds and put them in a pan of crushed ice until the jelly is set. Spoon 2 tablespoons cranberry sauce, drained into each of the timbales filling them half-way with the jelly mixture, and chill them until the jelly is set.

To unmold the jellies run a sharp knife around the edge of each mold, lower the molds into hot water for an instant, and invert them onto a dish, tapping them to release the jelly.

Serves 12.

GUEST NIGHT INITIATED

Beginning Wednesday night, November 13, guest night at the seminary will get underway. Mr. Anthony Bateman, professor of law at the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania and Assistant District Attorney for Philadelphia, will be our guest for dinner at the refectory and for some conversation in the refectory anteroom afterwards. Aside from Mr. Bateman's academic and occupational credentials, he brings with him a certain style and charm that were witnessed by those of us who worked with him last month in the opera Carmen. All in all the evening should prove quite interesting.

It is hoped that Wednesday night's guest will be the first in what will become a weekly tradition of inviting member's of the community to dinner. It is a response to Dr. Krodel's program of making use of the opportunities of the metropolitan area to enrich our seminary training.

There is no obligation on the part of any student - only an opportunity! Those who know of an interesting guest are encouraged to arrange an invitation. So that there won't be two guests invited any Wednesday, Paul Rorem has been asked to coordinate the program.

JUNIORS SAY THANKS

Thanks to the Social Committee for a successful "night at Bavaria" on Friday. Positive feedback on the dance dominated many conversations on Saturday and Sunday. Visitors who attended the mixer felt very welcome and sought to find out if we would be sponsoring another mixer.

In answer, to the question of another mixer being held, the junior class asks all the seminary community to reserve the date of December 13, 1974. Yes, it is a Friday. No, we have no definite plans to label the event as any particular event yet. We (Newell Embley, Paul Nye, Lee Diefenderfer) are open for suggestions and help from the students of the junior class. Please contact us if you would like to help with any planning or activity. Hopefully with the cooperation of the junior class we can present another successful social event.

Lee Diefenderfer

SENIORS

The proof pictures which you received last week, must be returned to the Lux representative who will be on campus Thursday, November 21. At that time one proof must be selected for the composite and any additional orders made. Christmas delivery is still guaranteed. Any questions should be directed toward Ken Gould or Paul Bartlett.

BUTTERED GREEN BEANS

In a large kettle cook 3 pounds green beans in 6 quarts boiling salted water over moderately high heat for 8 minutes, or until they are tender. Drain the beans in a colander and refresh them under running cold water until they are cool. Trim the beans and cut them into desired lengths or leave them whole. In a large skillet heat the beans with 2 tablespoons minced parsley in 1 stick or 1/2 cup butter over moderate heat, shaking the pan to coat them with the butter. Season the beans with salt and pepper to taste, transfer them to a heated vegetable dish, and top them with 2 tablespoons butter, cut into bits. Serves 12.

ANGU de MILHO (CORNMEAL PUDDING)

In a heavy saucepan bring 5 cups water with 1 tablespoon salt to boil. Reduce the heat to a simmer and add 2 cups yellow cornmeal in a stream, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. Add 2 tablespoons butter or bacon fat and simmer the mixture, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes or until it is thick. Turn the mixture into a buttered bowl, let it set for 2 to 3 minutes, and unmold it onto a serving platter.

Junior Class Outing

Dr Krodel has graciously yielded his class period on Friday, Nov. 22, in order that we might tour the Near Eastern Collection at University of Pennsylvania Museum. Dr. Krodel is arranging for a graduate student to guide us. There will be a nominal entrance fee. It is suggested that we read the Oxford Bible Atlas because of its archaeological viewpoint. Train time is 10:47 at Allen's Lane Station. Bag lunches can be arranged through our food service. There is a cafeteria at the museum. More information will follow concerning bus routes to other museums should anyone so choose.

INVITATION

I received the following letter from St. Charles Borromeo Seminary on Tuesday. Please read it and see what you think...

Dear Friends:

In Paul's letter to the Colossians we read:

Dedicate yourselves to thankfulness. Let the word of Christ, rich as it is, dwell in you. In wisdom made perfect, instruct and admonish one another. Sing gratefully to God from your hearts in psalms, hymns and inspired songs. Whatever you do, whether in speech or in action, do it in the name of the Lord Jesus. Give thanks to God the Father through Him.

As God's chosen ones, we are directed to give thanks and praise to God for all the good things He has given us. With this in mind, on behalf of the faculty and students of Saint Charles Seminary, I would like to extend to you and your community a cordial invitation to attend an Ecumenical Inter-Seminary Prayer Service of Thanksgiving. The Service will be held on Monday evening, November 25, at 7:30 in Saint Martin's Chapel, the building closest to City Line. Speakers for the Service of Thanksgiving will be the Reverend James Flood, Chairman of the Theology Department at Saint Charles and Director of Inter-Seminary Activities, and the Reverend William Derstine, Chaplain, Sleighton Farm School for Girls.

Our mutual concern for our brothers and sisters whom we do not see and our gratitude to God for His goodness to our country impel us to praise Him in prayer. We hope that you will find it convenient to join us.

Cordially yours,
(Rev. Msgr.) Vincent L. Burns
Rector

Anyone interested in attending the Service should contact Sam Zeiser by November 20. Perhaps we can gather together enough people to send a good sized group; or there may be only a few who are willing. Whatever the case, this sort of inter-seminary contact could set the stage for improved relationships with others who are facing much the same learning experience as we. Of course, faculty and staff are included in this invitation. In fact, I think it would be a healthy sign if some faculty members could participate. Let's see what we can make of this!

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

I wholeheartedly concur with the Seminarian staff in welcoming the Board of Directors to our readership. I would hope the reading of the Seminarian might further foster communication and understanding between students and directors. That we might express our unity in Christ in a more concrete way I would suggest that the chairman of the board and the second semester chaplain confer so that students, board, faculty and administrators together worship their God prior to the next board meeting. I could not help thinking during this last meeting that it was unfortunate we had not communicated with each other on so basic a level as schedule. The seminary partook of Holy Communion while the board met in an adjoining room. I pray that together we might be guided by the Holy Spirit in furthering the church's work on earth.

WHY THE MINISTRY?

At this stage of the semester work begins to pile up, if it hasn't done so already. The pressure of paper deadlines, upcoming exams, class presentations, etc., really mounts. It is at times like this that seminarians begin to ask questions about the direction, or lack of direction, their lives are taking. We wonder where we will get the strength to make the deadlines and get through the exams. We often ask ourselves "Why the ministry?" and "Why am I here?"

It is at times like this that it is important to talk with people, especially people within the community who may share the same problems. But, it is also important to talk with God in prayer....Read Psalm 73:23-28.

Peace,

Al Martin

CONFESSIONS OF A 3 TIME LOSER

Once upon a time they say the earth was non-existent and darkness covered everything. Then the Lord got rolling, and in seven days he created a whole mess of stuff. What the Bible fails to mention is that on the second Monday of creation, God invented a system so perfect that it has remained in the darkest recesses of our collective memories ever since: 3 strikes and you're out!

You'd think a man with a college education would have known better, but in October of this year my wife and I gave birth to our third child - not just our third child, but our third pre-school, stay-at-home-type child; our third has-to-be-dressed, directed, and corrected stay-at-home child. (We also failed to be sure our second was out of diapers before we had our third, which is what's referred to as going down 'lookin'!)

If the staff of the SEMINARIAN feels it has some merit, I hope to share with you in the coming weeks some of the trials and tribulations of a 3 time father.

M.A.R. MEETING

On Monday, November 11 at 2:00pm an M.A.R. meeting was held in the Library. We were fortunate to have a representative from the Division For Professional Leadership, Mr. George Hoog, with us. Other members present were Dr. Lee and Dr. Krodel, Sr. Margaret Kreller, representative for the diaconate, and five concerned students. The meeting lasted one hour and a half and devoted itself to general discussion and particular questions and needs.

As M.A.R. candidates we are being theologically trained and receiving practical experience by an accredited seminary. We are training to be professional church workers not "qualified Sunday School teachers." Then what variety lies within the church for us? What future does the church hold for an M.A.R.?

One way of searching out these questions may be an overall look at ourselves (in the synods, agencies, institutions and churches). This would involve contact between the synod and the M.A.R. student during the course of studies at seminary. Some advice was given that we should become familiar with a member of our synod, expose this person to our specific qualifications and hopefully he or she will act as an intervener for us. Another suggestion was to complete the PSS (personal support system) form. A proposal was mentioned that there be a central bank of vacancies listing established not only in the synods but also in the DPL, for the M.A.R.'s.

It was an afternoon of discussion, but no definite concensus was reached. As I heard one student proclaim, "I am more confused now, than when we began." I ponder her words... where exactly is the M.A.R. graduate going?
